

Delivery and Payment Conditions

Provided nothing contrary has been stipulated in any individual case, our delivery and payment conditions overleaf apply to all deliveries. It is also the case that the general conditions for the supply of products and services of the electrical and electronics industry apply by extension, including the “supplementary clause: extended retention of ownership” of the ZVEI (The Central Association of the Electrical Engineering and Electronic Industries) in its current version for the time being. If this is not yet known about, it may be requested from us at any time.

Our prices are subject to change without notice, are not legally binding for follow-up orders, and are based on the current status in respect of wage rates and material costs. Should changes have come in by the time of delivery which make adherence to the price that was originally offered unreasonable, then we have the right to adjust our prices accordingly.

To the extent that prepayments were not agreed in individual cases, invoices must be paid within 30 days of the date of invoice or from the notification of readiness for despatch, in cash free of charges or by bank transfer without any deduction. Payments are in each case apportioned to the oldest outstanding debt. Should the purchaser fall into arrears, we charge interest on arrears as provided by law at the level of 8% above the basic rate of interest, while reserving the right to assert interest on arrears at a higher rate on other legal justification.

Transport packaging is taken back on request, on reimbursement of the costs arising for that.

Sachsenheim is the place of fulfilment, and Vaihingen / Enz is the place of jurisdiction.

Stand: May 2007